Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 29 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Starting bright but turning wet and blustery later.

Today:
A largely dry start with sunny spells but cloudier in the far north with some light showery outbreaks through the morning. Sunny spells into afternoon however cloud progressing into the south, followed by outbreaks of rain later. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
During the evening and into the night, cloud spreads across the country with heavy outbreaks of rain soon following. Becoming windy with coastal gales in the south. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Friday:
A breezy and cloudy start with overnight rain clearing, leaving behind scattered showers through the morning. Occasional showers, perhaps heavy during the afternoon with sunny spells between. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Sunny spells and scattered showers on Saturday. Becoming drier with spells of sunshine in the north on Sunday but with isolated showers further south. Risk of further showers on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.